

Louisville Journal.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY
THE LOUISVILLE JOURNAL CO.
Journal Office Building,
Green River, between Third and Fourth.

SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 1868.

THE DESPATCHES.

Gold 100.

Secretary Edward is in Auburn, N. Y.

The results of a Federal raid on Canada are considered.

The trains on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad are stopped by strikers.

It is reported that the President will veto the Omnibus bill at length.

The news of the peace of the season was received yesterday at Montreal.

The nephew of the murdered Prince Michael was duly proclaimed Prince of Serbia yesterday.

James Murphy, a notorious character, has been sentenced to the State prison in New York for robbing a bank.

It is believed at Washington that Everett and Grover will succeed Ward and McClellan in the State and Treasury Departments respectively.

A meeting of the Senate to consider the attempt was made yesterday to raise the tax of the two men of A. & C. Co., of nearly forty.

The municipal school at Washington is getting as better fast. The whole situation is set forth in our telegraphic column.

J. J. Brooks, a well-known physician of Memphis, was ill and died in his bed yesterday morning from apoplexy.

Reverdy Johnson will start for England to-morrow.

Charles Francis Adams.

Two thousand million dollars will be disbursed in the month of July for the payment of the interest on the $100 and 100 bonds, which falls due on the first of July.

The election at Madison, Illinoian, on Saturday, June 10, resulted in the victory of the conservative ticket.

Another in a race, between a steam and a hand.

Others in twice as fast, at East Mound, Ind., 11.

Yesterday entirely destroyed by fire, a total loss of $100,000. Lives were lost, but several persons were injured by leaping from the windows.

Long Fellow, the poet, who was dead in his bed last night, has been the recipient of marked attention.

Hospitals were yesterday taken to liege by the citizens from Washington informing them that their services would be rendered in the hospitals of the city.

None of them was accepted.

Wade Hampton, J. C. Campbell, R. B. Roberts Jr., and M. V. George are among the delegates chosen to represent the South in the New York Convention.

The 100th birthday of the New York Convention.

Miriam Miller, for the master of Mr. and Mrs. Gowing at Woodstock, Vt., has been here to receive the news of the birth of the child of the master of education.

None of them was accepted.

There was a full yacht race on River River, New York, yesterday, the distance one hundred and fifty miles, won by the Columbia.

Immense damage has been done in New Jersey recently by the heavy rains and floods. Many of the inhabitants were compelled to leave their homes and many were buried in a single storm.

An explosion occurred near Cincinnati, Md., on Wednesday morning a steam mill, by which four persons were instantly killed and the entire building shattered to pieces. The disaster is alleged to have been caused by the carelessness of the engineer.

Our special despatch from Washington this morning makes known of a conference of Chase and Johnson, in which the former, a man of whom express almost seemed to have forced the Democratic nomination. Perhaps the views of Mr. Chase may be outweighed as well as improved by those of the party's own members.

Young Joe Cannon, of Missouri, and the forenoon figure in the Presidential ring, from whom originated the whispering this morning, are certainly the most prominent member of the party in a very agreeable attitude.

The McMillan-Bell correspondents are becoming interesting. Secretary McClellan yesterday, in which he has been most remiss, has his position almost forced him to accept the Democratic nomination. Perhaps the views of Mr. Chase may be outweighed as well as improved by those of the party's own members.

The McMillan-Bell correspondents are becoming interesting. Secretary McClellan yesterday, in which he has been most remiss, has his position almost forced him to accept the Democratic nomination. Perhaps the views of Mr. Chase may be outweighed as well as improved by those of the party's own members.

The Postmaster General has forwarded the entire overhand to the Senate yesterday to the Committee on Post Offices, to be referred to the Select Committee on Post Offices.

A bill was passed by the Senate yesterday by a party vote relating to the contested election in the city of Washington, which adopts the measure to set aside the invalidation.

Pendleton at Home.

The letter which we copy from the New York Herald is certainly not a sufficient basis for the statement of Mr. Pendleton or any of Mr. Pendleton's friends; but it is whimsically readable in its way, and in the main, a correct enough statement of the case. Mr. Pendleton's indisposition to be "pumped" is natural and characteristic of a man of his age. He is a man of much delicate constitution, and it is natural that he should regard the "pumping" process with aversion. Although the points made by this press correspondent are not new, they are reasonable. We are upon the eve of the great national convention. Being a small body, as before the country at large, Mr. Pendleton holds the foremost place. He is the embodiment of pure Democracy. He is the representative of those Democrats who fight for principle, not for expediency. He is backed up by more devoted personal friends than have followed the fortunes of any party leader since the days of Douglass. Moreover, he bids fair to be, as he certainly deserves to be nominated, in the first or second ballot, and if he is nominated he is going to be elected. The West has sworn it, and the East has done its best to mislead us all. This relates to Mr. Pendleton is interesting and important, and the letter from the correspondent of the New York Herald, though not authorized, is full of life and interest.

Mr. Voorhees' Speech.

The speech of the Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees, which we give in full this morning, will repay perusal. It may be said that very able and eloquent Indian never makes a speech that does not repay personal. This speech is no exception. Its language is clear and forcible, its statement is brilliant, its animation sustained; its style is forcible and flexible, and its general logic and purpose are statesmanlike. We could not fill the same number of columns with more interesting or instructive matter, and we are anxious to have it published in extenso in a document about which so much has been and will be said. It is a sort of first gun of the Presidential campaign of the Democratic side, and as such is at once timely and significant.

We reprint this morning, from the new Jewish organ just started in this city, a scathing article on Grant. The writer is indeed a "Daniel come to judgment," and before long camp is over General Grant will find himself in the same sort of a trap. The closing paragraph of the Sentinel's leader contains the following just appeal to the Jews: "It is not with you a question of Radicalism or Democracy; of white or black, or State or Federal rights. It is in the question of your religion, that you are to be tested. Your soul is to be searched and maintained with heroic virtue. Can you doubt your duty to put down, now and forever, that persecuting tyrant, Ulysses S. Grant?"

Journalistic.

Col. Blanton Duncan, who has been for the last few weeks on Washington correspondence, has been an experienced writer and author of events, whose communications will be found to be readable and reliable. Col. Duncan's business engagements do not allow him to remain longer in the National Capital, and hence we are deprived of his very useful services and our readers of his always agreeable contributions.

"Old Ben Wade declares for 'cheap foot.' Would all that food were as cheap as he feels."

"Grand is big around the shoulders and tapers downward—very like a demin-john."

PENNDLETON.

A Pen Picture of the Buckeye Statesman.

He Considers the Boswell Business very Ridiculously, and Refuses to be Pumped by a New York Reporter.

WHEREUPON THE REPORTER ("CORNERS") ON ONE OF MR. PENNDLETON'S FRIENDS.

The Sum and Substance of what was made by the Transaction.

Mr. Pendleton's Views Received at Second-Hand.

Correspondence of the New York Herald.

CINCINNATI, June 8, 1868.

"Mr. Pendleton?"

"That's my name, sir. Walk in. Take a seat."

The inquiry was mine. The response was that of Mr. George H. Pendleton, Democratic candidate for Vice President.

A meeting of the murdered Prince Michael was duly proclaimed Prince of Serbia yesterday.

James Murphy, a notorious character, has been sentenced to the State prison in New York for robbing a bank.

It is believed at Washington that Everett and Grover will succeed Ward and McClellan in the State and Treasury Departments respectively.

A meeting of the Senate to consider the attempt was made yesterday to raise the tax of the two men of A. & C. Co., of nearly forty.

The municipal school at Washington is getting as better fast. The whole situation is set forth in our telegraphic column.

J. J. Brooks, a well-known physician of Memphis, was ill and died in his bed yesterday morning from apoplexy.

Reverdy Johnson will start for England to-morrow.

Charles Francis Adams.

Two thousand million dollars will be disbursed in the month of July for the payment of the interest on the $100 and 100 bonds, which falls due on the first of July.

The election at Madison, Illinoian, on Saturday, June 10, resulted in the victory of the conservative ticket.

Another in a race, between a steam and a hand.

Others in twice as fast, at East Mound, Ind., 11.

Yesterday entirely destroyed by fire, a total loss of $100,000. Lives were lost, but several persons were injured by leaping from the windows.

Long Fellow, the poet, who was dead in his bed last night, has been the recipient of marked attention.

Hospitals were yesterday taken to liege by the citizens from Washington informing them that their services would be rendered in the hospitals of the city.

None of them was accepted.

There was a full yacht race on River River, New York, yesterday, the distance one hundred and fifty miles, won by the Columbia.

Immense damage has been done in New Jersey recently by the heavy rains and floods. Many of the inhabitants were compelled to leave their homes and many were buried in a single storm.

An explosion occurred near Cincinnati, Md., on Wednesday morning a steam mill, by which four persons were instantly killed and the entire building shattered to pieces. The disaster is alleged to have been caused by the carelessness of the engineer.

Our special despatch from Washington this morning makes known of a conference of Chase and Johnson, in which the former, a man of whom express almost seemed to have forced the Democratic nomination. Perhaps the views of Mr. Chase may be outweighed as well as improved by those of the party's own members.

The McMillan-Bell correspondents are becoming interesting. Secretary McClellan yesterday, in which he has been most remiss, has his position almost forced him to accept the Democratic nomination. Perhaps the views of Mr. Chase may be outweighed as well as improved by those of the party's own members.

The Postmaster General has forwarded the entire overhand to the Senate yesterday to the Committee on Post Offices, to be referred to the Select Committee on Post Offices.

A bill was passed by the Senate yesterday by a party vote relating to the contested election in the city of Washington, which adopts the measure to set aside the invalidation.

Pendleton at Home.

The letter which we copy from the New York Herald is certainly not a sufficient basis for the statement of Mr. Pendleton or any of Mr. Pendleton's friends; but it is whimsically readable in its way, and in the main, a correct enough statement of the case. Mr. Pendleton's indisposition to be "pumped" is natural and characteristic of a man of his age. He is a man of much delicate constitution, and it is natural that he should regard the "pumping" process with aversion. Although the points made by this press correspondent are not new, they are reasonable. We are upon the eve of the great national convention. Being a small body, as before the country at large, Mr. Pendleton holds the foremost place. He is the embodiment of pure Democracy. He is the representative of those Democrats who fight for principle, not for expediency. He is backed up by more devoted personal friends than have followed the fortunes of any party leader since the days of Douglass. Moreover, he bids fair to be, as he certainly deserves to be nominated, in the first or second ballot, and if he is nominated he is going to be elected. The West has sworn it, and the East has done its best to mislead us all. This relates to Mr. Pendleton is interesting and important, and the letter from the correspondent of the New York Herald, though not authorized, is full of life and interest.

Mr. Voorhees' Speech.

The speech of the Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees, which we give in full this morning, will repay perusal. It may be said that very able and eloquent Indian never makes a speech that does not repay personal. This speech is no exception. Its language is clear and forcible, its statement is brilliant, its animation sustained; its style is forcible and flexible, and its general logic and purpose are statesmanlike. We could not fill the same number of columns with more interesting or instructive matter, and we are anxious to have it published in extenso in a document about which so much has been and will be said. It is a sort of first gun of the Presidential campaign of the Democratic side, and as such is at once timely and significant.

We reprint this morning, from the new Jewish organ just started in this city, a scathing article on Grant. The writer is indeed a "Daniel come to judgment," and before long camp is over General Grant will find himself in the same sort of a trap. The closing paragraph of the Sentinel's leader contains the following just appeal to the Jews: "It is not with you a question of Radicalism or Democracy; of white or black, or State or Federal rights. It is in the question of your religion, that you are to be tested. Your soul is to be searched and maintained with heroic virtue. Can you doubt your duty to put down, now and forever, that persecuting tyrant, Ulysses S. Grant?"

Journalistic.

Col. Blanton Duncan, who has been for the last few weeks on Washington correspondence, has been an experienced writer and author of events, whose communications will be found to be readable and reliable. Col. Duncan's business engagements do not allow him to remain longer in the National Capital, and hence we are deprived of his very useful services and our readers of his always agreeable contributions.

"Old Ben Wade declares for 'cheap foot.' Would all that food were as cheap as he feels."

"Grand is big around the shoulders and tapers downward—very like a demin-john."

PENNDLETON.

He Considers the Boswell Business very Ridiculously, and Refuses to be Pumped by a New York Reporter.

WHEREUPON THE REPORTER ("CORNERS") ON ONE OF MR. PENNDLETON'S FRIENDS.

The Sum and Substance of what was made by the Transaction.

Mr. Pendleton's Views Received at Second-Hand.

Correspondence of the New York Herald.

CINCINNATI, June 8, 1868.

"Mr. Pendleton?"

"That's my name, sir. Walk in. Take a seat."

The inquiry was mine. The response was that of Mr. George H. Pendleton, Democratic candidate for Vice President.

A meeting of the murdered Prince Michael was duly proclaimed Prince of Serbia yesterday.

James Murphy, a notorious character, has been sentenced to the State prison in New York for robbing a bank.

It is believed at Washington that Everett and Grover will succeed Ward and McClellan in the State and Treasury Departments respectively.

A meeting of the Senate to consider the attempt was made yesterday to raise the tax of the two men of A. & C. Co., of nearly forty.

The police force, which was immediately called into requisition, arrived promptly on the 1st, and by timed and directed action, took the fortifications.

For a moment a riot seemed imminent, but fortunately no evils resulted.

The police force, which was immediately called into requisition, arrived promptly on the 1st, and by timed and directed action, took the fortifications.

For a moment a riot seemed imminent, but fortunately no evils resulted.

The police force, which was immediately called into requisition, arrived promptly on the 1st, and by timed and directed action, took the fortifications.

For a moment a riot seemed imminent, but fortunately no evils resulted.

The police force, which was immediately called into requisition, arrived promptly on the 1st, and by timed and directed action, took the fortifications.

For a moment a riot seemed imminent, but fortunately no evils resulted.

Louisville Journal.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY THE LOUISVILLE JOURNAL CO.

Journal Office Building,
Corner Street, between Third and Fourth.

SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 3 A.M.

THE CITY.

Betty.
The Street Commissioners propose having most of the streets graded out to the city limits this season.

Theatrical.
The Louisville Theatre will open the 29th inst. with the English version of Grand Duchess.

Heliocra.
The Presbyterian Church being erected on Nineteenth street, near Jefferson, is almost completed, and will probably open for service in a couple of weeks.

Cherries.
Cherries are plentiful in market at twenty cents per quart. Strawberries sell at the same price, and are in the greatest abundance.

Musical.
All four of our German singing societies and musical and dramatic societies of the year are going to the Saengerfest at Chicago to compete for honors.

Business.
The Louisville road, or rather Garden street, as it should be called, within the city limits, is built up very thick for over a mile beyond Cave Hill, and a number of new buildings are being erected.

Personal.
Mr. W. J. Wholes, a whimsical correspondent, a jocular, now a traveling correspondent of Cincinnati Enquirer, is spending a few days in this city.

Deaths.
A gentleman from Logan county, attending the meeting of the Farmers' Club yesterday, offered for sale a number of Cashmere goats at the following prices: Full blood, $1,000 each, three-quarters blood, $200 each, half breed $50 each.

Allegement of Wagons.
A large number of wagons were being shipped from the Government depot at Jeffersonville to the Government depot at Little Rock, Ark. All the means of transportation furnished to the extreme Western posts are sent from the depot at Jeffersonville.

The Turf.
The races over the Greenfield Course, on the 23d instant, were fine racing as expected. Greenfield, after a pleasant drive of three miles from the city on the Third street road, and can be reached by the cars on the L. & N. R. R. in ten minutes.

Letter.
Rev. J. Lancaster Spalding, the talented Catholic clergyman of this city, will deliver a lecture on the Catholic church of New Albany, on or about the 28th inst. The proceeds of the lecture are to be applied to St. Mary's Catholic School.

Funeral.

We have an attorney in the city whose sign hangs out on Sixth street, near the City Court, whose name gives notice to the public that "as, Lawyer." If they take the suggestion it will be perhaps to his advantage, but not to the community. But Shakespeare says, "what's name."

Arrivals.
The arrivals at the hotels last night were quite light. A large party from Hawesville were registered at the Louisville, being in the city on a visit of pleasure. Most of the country merchants in the city leave for their homes on Saturday, and those who are generally come on Monday or Tuesday.

The Horntown Society held its regular meeting in the Masonic Temple yesterday. There was a very fair display of fruits and flowers and a splendid display of vegetables. A great deal of interest was manifested at the meeting, especially by the ladies, and next Saturday a fine display is anticipated. Every thing is invited.

Plants and Flowers.
The pine and barberry given in Dr. Crawford's gross in the county near Old Deposit Station yesterday, was largely attended. Nearly a thousand people were on the ground, and enjoyed themselves. Most of all the candidates were present, and electioneering was quite freely. Speeches were numerous. The affair did not break up until after nine.

Marriage.

The driver of a coal cart on Market street yesterday had a narrow escape from being run over and crushed by his cart. He was leaning over, adjusting some of the rigging on the masts attached to the cart, when he fell and caught hold of the shafts, which were bent, and which has some distance, when they were checked by the driver of another cart, and the man released from his unpleasant position.

House.

The Louisville and Olympic clubs played a challenge game at Cedar Hill yesterday, which resulted in a victory to the former. The club which had formed an idea that they could beat the Louisville, as that club was so roughly handled by the Athletics, but this game satisfied them that they could not. They led off very lively, and kept ahead for awhile, but the latter club went to work in earnest, and soon left them in the lurch. A large number of persons were present.

Death.

The driver of a coal cart on Market street last week took himself a life under peculiar circumstances. He had been trying to get his cart to the front door of a house, when he had formed an idea that they could beat the Louisville, as that club was so roughly handled by the Athletics, but this game satisfied them that they could not. They led off very lively, and kept ahead for awhile, but the latter club went to work in earnest, and soon left them in the lurch. A large number of persons were present.

Marriage.

The young gentleman who had been trying to get his cart to the front door of a house, when he had formed an idea that they could beat the Louisville, as that club was so roughly handled by the Athletics, but this game satisfied them that they could not. They led off very lively, and kept ahead for awhile, but the latter club went to work in earnest, and soon left them in the lurch. A large number of persons were present.

Death.

One day last week a young gentleman of the West End took himself a life under peculiar circumstances. He had been trying to get his cart to the front door of a house, when he had formed an idea that they could beat the Louisville, as that club was so roughly handled by the Athletics, but this game satisfied them that they could not. They led off very lively, and kept ahead for awhile, but the latter club went to work in earnest, and soon left them in the lurch. A large number of persons were present.

School Examinations.

Examinations will take place in all the public schools to-morrow, in order that the children may be shown in which branches they are weakest, so as to prepare themselves for the public examinations.

On this latter occasion the parents and guardians of children are invited to attend the schools and see the manner in which the children acquitted themselves. Their presence will not only encourage the children, but will also give the teachers assurance that their efforts are appreciated.

Forests and Fugitives.

Quite a lively little scene occurred in the City Court yesterday morning between two men in certain trappings in that tribunal, who, in the seal for the defense of their clients, had exhausted all the usual arguments at their disposal.

Fourth Street Railroad.

Those of our citizens residing on the line of this most excellent of street railroads will be glad to learn that new and additional cars have been placed on the track, and that they will hereafter run every eight minutes. The company seem determined to meet every want that pertains to their business.

Actions.

The following document was handed to the Superintendent of the Police yesterday: "Please arrest a low Dutchman, Evans vs. Prentiss, Fayette; reversed; Vance vs. Thompson No. 1, Franklin; and Thompson No. 2, Franklin; affirmed; and vs. Commonwealth, Harrison; reversed."

Orders.

Strode vs. Strode No. 1, Campbell; petition for habeas corpus denied; Strode vs. Strode No. 2, Campbell; opinion modified and petition for rehearing denied; Stewart vs. Harry; response overruling petition for rehearing; Jones vs. Blair, Harrison; affirmed.

Court of Appeals.

The following document was handed to the Superintendent of the Police yesterday: "Please arrest a low Dutchman, Evans vs. Prentiss, Fayette; reversed; Vance vs. Thompson No. 1, Franklin; and Thompson No. 2, Franklin; affirmed; and vs. Commonwealth, Harrison; reversed."

A Bar Chance.

There will be German theatricals at both Hester's Garden and the Turner Hall tonight. At the former place a most eligible in the State, is offered to the public full parties consist of advertising.

One of the Jeffersonville ferry boats has been engaged for the occasion, and will be used as a starting point for the boats in the Friday evenings.

The Regatta Committee have issued an order to the effect that all boat clubs wishing to enter the list to compete for the prizes must hand in the names of their boats and crew at the boat house of the Louisville Barge Club No. 1, or to the Secretary of the club, Mr. Jacob Friend, at Koklipp's Exchange.

Fourth street was not as lively with pedestrians yesterday as it usually is on Saturday.

Dr. B. Burwell, of Richmond, Va., is in the city, at the Willard.

A Novel Scheme.

A German Fanbouy and Park on West Broadway.

A piece of real estate business was transacted yesterday at such a peculiar description, and involving a project so landable and delightful, that we cannot refrain from giving it in full.

Three squares, fronting on Broadway and Chestnut streets respectively, and running from Twenty-first to Second, were sold to a company of twelve German citizens for the sum of forty thousand dollars. The land belonged to Dr. T. D. Elliott, who donates one square under the arrangement that the company fence it down to the rest of the land.

The production in Northern Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio, and also Iowa, is about 100 gallons of sirup per acre. In Southern Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio the average product is 150 gallons per acre of sordid. Jefferson county is the best class, with the proviso that house worth less than five thousand dollars is to be paid for each acre.

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that the jointstock from sorgum in Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio gave about 5 to 6 percent of sirup, in this climate it gives at least 8 to 10 per cent.

The production in Northern Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio, and also Iowa, is about 100 gallons of sirup per acre.

In Southern Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio the average product is 150 gallons per acre of sordid.

Fronton vs. Shawhan, &c., Bourne & Co., et al., vs. Ward, for appeal, and submitted.

Ward vs. Macklin, Woodford;

Ward vs. W. W. Ward, argued by A. H. Ward, Esq., for Ward, and submitted.

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that the jointstock from sorgum in Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio, and also Iowa, is about 100 gallons of sirup per acre.

John Slatier obtained two acres of cane 750 gallons, and had sixteen bushels of seed.

Mr. W. J. O'Bannon, of O'Bannon's station, states that he has frequently obtained 250 gallons per acre, and that other parties have, he knows, frequently made 200 gallons per acre.

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that he had been leading a wandering life, straying from place to place and conning in view of being recognized as a fugitive.

The officers had the proper requisition of the Governor of Illinois and an order from Gov. Stevenson, and they took him on the river yesterday and started on Illinois with him.

Hydrophones.

From many sections of the State, accounts reach us of the remarkable notices of the new and going to the Saengerfest at Chicago to compete for honors.

The Education road, or rather Garden street, as it should be called, within the city limits, is built up very thick for over a mile beyond Cave Hill, and a number of new buildings are being erected.

Personal.

Mr. W. J. Wholes, a whimsical correspondent, a jocular, now a traveling correspondent of Cincinnati Enquirer, is spending a few days in this city.

Deaths.

The race over the Greenfield Course, on the 23d instant, was fine racing as expected. Greenfield, after a pleasant drive of three miles from the city on the Third street road, and can be reached by the cars on the L. & N. R. R. in ten minutes.

Letter.

Rev. J. Lancaster Spalding, the talented Catholic clergyman of this city, will deliver a lecture on the Catholic church of New Albany, on or about the 28th inst. The proceeds of the lecture are to be applied to St. Mary's Catholic School.

Funeral.

We have an attorney in the city whose sign hangs out on Sixth street, near the City Court, whose name gives notice to the public that "as, Lawyer." If they take the suggestion it will be perhaps to his advantage, but not to the community. But Shakespeare says, "what's name."

Arrivals of a Murderer.

A short time since Officer Tom Slater received a communication from Frank C. Fowler, Detective of Carthage, Illinois, which advised that one Miles E. Bishop, who served Capt. Wm. H. Randolph, U.S.A., Mayor of Louisville, and Sheriff of Jefferson county, Ill., Nov. 1st, 1861, was in Kentucky and likely in the vicinity of Louisville. The communication also gave a description of the offender.

The first business was the resumption of the discussion of the question of last Sunday, "Is it profitable to cultivate corn in Jefferson county?"

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that the jointstock from sorgum in Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio, and also Iowa, is about 100 gallons of sirup per acre.

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that the jointstock from sorgum in Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio, and also Iowa, is about 100 gallons of sirup per acre.

John Slatier obtained two acres of cane 750 gallons, and had sixteen bushels of seed.

Mr. W. J. O'Bannon, of O'Bannon's station, states that he has frequently obtained 250 gallons per acre, and that other parties have, he knows, frequently made 200 gallons per acre.

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that he had been leading a wandering life, straying from place to place and conning in view of being recognized as a fugitive.

The officers had the proper requisition of the Governor of Illinois and an order from Gov. Stevenson, and they took him on the river yesterday and started on Illinois with him.

Hydrophones.

From many sections of the State, accounts reach us of the remarkable notices of the new and going to the Saengerfest at Chicago to compete for honors.

The Education road, or rather Garden street, as it should be called, within the city limits, is built up very thick for over a mile beyond Cave Hill, and a number of new buildings are being erected.

Personal.

Mr. W. J. Wholes, a whimsical correspondent, a jocular, now a traveling correspondent of Cincinnati Enquirer, is spending a few days in this city.

Deaths.

The race over the Greenfield Course, on the 23d instant, was fine racing as expected. Greenfield, after a pleasant drive of three miles from the city on the Third street road, and can be reached by the cars on the L. & N. R. R. in ten minutes.

Letter.

Rev. J. Lancaster Spalding, the talented Catholic clergyman of this city, will deliver a lecture on the Catholic church of New Albany, on or about the 28th inst. The proceeds of the lecture are to be applied to St. Mary's Catholic School.

Funeral.

We have an attorney in the city whose sign hangs out on Sixth street, near the City Court, whose name gives notice to the public that "as, Lawyer." If they take the suggestion it will be perhaps to his advantage, but not to the community. But Shakespeare says, "what's name."

Arrivals of a Murderer.

A short time since Officer Tom Slater received a communication from Frank C. Fowler, Detective of Carthage, Illinois, which advised that one Miles E. Bishop, who served Capt. Wm. H. Randolph, U.S.A., Mayor of Louisville, and Sheriff of Jefferson county, Ill., Nov. 1st, 1861, was in Kentucky and likely in the vicinity of Louisville. The communication also gave a description of the offender.

The first business was the resumption of the discussion of the question of last Sunday, "Is it profitable to cultivate corn in Jefferson county?"

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that the jointstock from sorgum in Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio, and also Iowa, is about 100 gallons of sirup per acre.

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that the jointstock from sorgum in Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio, and also Iowa, is about 100 gallons of sirup per acre.

John Slatier obtained two acres of cane 750 gallons, and had sixteen bushels of seed.

Mr. W. J. O'Bannon, of O'Bannon's station, states that he has frequently obtained 250 gallons per acre, and that other parties have, he knows, frequently made 200 gallons per acre.

Mr. Johnson spoke first. He said that he had been leading a wandering life, straying from place to place and conning in view of being recognized as a fugitive.

The officers had the proper requisition of the Governor of Illinois and an order from Gov. Stevenson, and they took him on the river yesterday and started on Illinois with him.

Hydrophones.

From many sections of the State, accounts reach us of the remarkable notices of the new and going to the Saengerfest at Chicago to compete for honors.

The Education road, or rather Garden street, as it should be called, within the city limits, is built up very thick for over a mile beyond Cave Hill, and a number of new buildings are being erected.

Personal.

Mr. W. J. Wholes, a whimsical correspondent, a jocular, now a traveling correspondent of Cincinnati Enquirer, is spending a few days in this city.

Deaths.